Conference Call

On November 14th, 2022 Earth Science Tech held a conference call. These are the highlights most pertinent to investors looking at ETST:

- On the OTC Markets page, the company is labeled "shell risk". ETST is no longer a "shell risk." Upon consummation of the merger with RxCompoundStore and Peaks Curative, the company is now operating. Although already Pink Current, management plans on applying to OTCQB upon completion of the PCAOB Audit of RxCompoundStore and/or Peaks Curative. When the audit is complete, they intend to file a Form 10 with the SEC and apply for an uplisting.
- RxCompoundStore is working to be licensed in more States
- Sterile Room is currently being built-out, anticipated to be online early in 2023, increasing revenue possibilities
- Hazardous Room will be online by the end of January 2023, increasing revenue possibilities
- Short-Term Funding Secured, company believes it has enough cash on hand to become Cash Flow Positive
- Activation of Not-For-Profit, in the near future, to provide compounded medications for those in need
- The company is interviewing candidates towards adding two independent board members for transparency and future plans
- RxCompoundStore has made progress towards bringing alternative forms of medications for multiple markets (i.e. Autism, Erectile Dysfunction, etc.). Thereby, increasing revenue possibilities
